Following the San Diego DNA and Genealogy Summit in March this year, the IHIA is returning to the East Coast with a similar concept to bring FIGG experts and stakeholders alike for a mutual knowledge exchange - investigators, prosecutors, forensic scientists, public and private labs with FIGG capabilities, and privacy experts. Additionally, attendees will hear from crime victims on the importance of having FIGG as an available and economic resource to the criminal justice community.

Topics & Speakers Featuring:

- Project: Cold Case
- NorCal rapist case study & the survivor's perspective
- NCMEC resources
- Sherry Black Foundation & The Bookstore Murder Case Presentation
- How to build family trees and navigate FIGG research tools
- Forming and operating a cold case unit
- MORE TO COME!

*This training summit is for law enforcement officials and those working directly with law enforcement. Those without governmental contact information will be vetted by the IHIA board to determine eligibility. Department credentials will be required at check-in. Individuals who do not have issued department credentials should contact us directly prior to arrival. **
